

A Caspian tern and its hatchlings nest on the deck of the Arctic Challenger, an ice-breaker barge anchored off the coast of Long Beach. The colony of terns is about a third of the size of the colony that nested on a rock barge last summer. Many in that colony died when barge operators allegedly hosed them off of the ship. (Stephen Carr / Press-Telegram)